Stories/Function

Erik Erikson serves as a senior support operative and specialised wagon master for the Board of Trade. Partnered with Olaf Gunnarson, Erik provides the technical and terrestrial expertise required to support operations. During the 774 AM campaign on the Continent of Osnines, he was essential in maintaining the “horse merchant” ruse that allowed the Department of Resolutions to extract the hero Noren from the Kingdom of Cottaleam. His work is defined by a commitment to operational security and the successful traversal of the continental road networks.

Description

Erik is characterised by his professional diligence and a physical appearance featuring a notable blond beard and ruddy cheeks that darken when he is subject to social embarrassment. Unlike the high-ranking Heroes of Skyss who often carry ancestral or magical weapons, Erik is a pragmatic combatant who wields a sword with disciplined efficiency.

He possesses a remarkable ability to blend into local populations, frequently operating at the front of logistical trains to manage provision procurement and checkpoint interactions. His temperament is defined by a quiet fortitude; he is capable of maintaining a “cavalry-style” march for days and remains unflappable even when bluffing the sentries at fortified river gates like Minhaton.

Personal Life

Erik was first met by the seekers at the Board of Trade mission in Beretha, where he assisted in the initial intelligence briefing regarding the Salician succession crisis and the Cottalemnese invasion. When the mission became an overland extraction, Erik took command of the party's heavy transport.

During the crossing of the fortified city of Minhaton, Erik personally managed the wagon containing the catatonic Noren. He successfully bluffed the city guards, convincing them that the incapacitated hero was merely a heavy sleeper recovering from a night watch. At the Wheel Inn, he used state funds to rapidly expand the party's horse-train to facilitate their rapid move to the west coast.

His service culminated in the high-stakes dash to the derelict fort at Ocaso. Despite sustaining a significant injury from an arrow to the shoulder and having three more embedded in his shield, Erik maintained his seat and reached the extraction point. He was subsequently evacuated by the Seagull and returned to Kronstadt for medical recovery.
